Guidelines for Tattoo Requirements

Tattoos Required

American Aberdeen Association rules require that all registered animals carry a tattoo in one or both ears. That tattoo must consist of the owner's herd letters, an individual animal identification number and a year letter.

Herd Letters

Herd letters are assigned to each member when application for membership is submitted, and to non-members when they first register a Aberdeen with AAA. Herd letters must be a minimum of two, and not more than three letters.

When registering a calf born to its natural mother, the herd letters of the owner of the dam at the time of birth must be used, and that individual must register the calf before it can be transferred.

An embryo transfer calf must be tattooed with, and registered with the herd letters of the owner of the calf at the time of registration.

Under no circumstances should you attempt to register a calf with herd letters that have not been approved and assigned to you by the Registry Office or the herd letters of another member or breeder. Example: ALR

Individual I.D. Number

No two animals can carry the same tattoo, so the individual I.D. numbering system is important. The individual I.D. number can be a minimum of two, and not more than three digits. Example: 1X

Year Letter

Part of the required Aberdeen tattoo must be a year letter. Usually it is the last digit in the tattoo. Below are the year letter codes from 2010 through 2019. (the letters I, O, Q and V are not used.)

2012 – Z	2014 – B	2016 – D	2018 – F	2020 – H	2020 - K
2013 – A	2015 – C	2017 – E	2019 – G	2021 – J	2023 - L

Examples of Acceptable Tattoos

The tattoo should be arranged so that the year letter follows the individual I.D. number. It should not follow the herd letters or be in front of the I.D. number. It is strongly recommended that you use the animal's individual I.D. number and the year letter portions of its tattoo as its animal herd I.D. number and possible tag number.

Steps to Making a Legible Tattoo

1. Review the tattoo requirements – Herd Letters, ID number and Year Letter.
2. Make sure you have your equipment on hand. Adequate equipment to restrain the animal. A towel or sponge to clean the ear, tattoo equipment with tattoo digits including herd letters, number(s) and year letter and green tattoo ink or paste. Green tattoo paste works much better on black Aberdeen cattle.
3. Sterilize your tattoo set with alcohol or an equivalent disinfectant. Dirty tattoo equipment can transmit wart viruses and other diseases from one animal to another and usually makes an illegible tattoo.
4. Check your records to be sure of the exact tattoo you will be using. You may want to incorporate the tattoo into the animal's tag and the animal's registered name so it will have more meaning to you later on and will simplify record keeping.
5. Check each tattoo by testing it on a piece of cardboard before you apply it to the animal's ear. It is easy to put the tattoo digits backward in the tattoo gun. Double checking at this point will save problems later.
6. Remove wax and dirt build up from the ear with a damp towel. A dirty ear will prevent the tattoo paste from penetrating the skin and making a permanent mark. Keep in mind, the middle lobe of the right ear is where the Brucellosis (bangs) tattoo will be placed in heifers so make sure to leave this space open for your vet.
7. Rub the green paste in the lobe before applying the tattoo. This step should allow the tattoo paste to better penetrate the ear as the digits are pressed into the skin. Place the tattoo pliers parallel with the ear ribs and press firmly. Then thoroughly rub the tattoo paste into the holes with your finger to make sure you have good coverage. This also helps slow the bleeding. Make sure you don't tattoo over one of the veins in the ear.
8. You should always check tattoos carefully before you exhibit or offer your animals for sale.

ABERDEEN ADVANTAGE

American Aberdeen cattle are easy calving, good natured cattle that are very feed efficient and maintain themselves on grass. They have excellent taste, texture and tenderness beef characteristics and exceptional ribeye area per hundred pounds of body weight which translates to very high yielding, high quality, high value beef carcasses.

American Aberdeen cattle answer the challenges of both the large-scale rancher and the small acreage farmers.

For the large-scale ranch operation, American Aberdeen lower labor and veterinary costs and provide many economic advantages. Commercial heifers bred to Fullblood American Aberdeen bulls calve easily and breed back quickly, reducing the calving interval. Halfblood American Aberdeen cows maintain themselves on about half the feed that is required by a full-size crossbred cow and wean more pounds of calf per acre.

American Aberdeen cattle are also a perfect choice for small acreage farmers. Their moderate size makes them easy to handle and minimizes equipment requirements. Their feed efficiency improves the carrying capacity of a farm. They produce exceptional quality beef. They are ideal show animals for 4-H and other youth projects bringing in the next generation of cattle people. They may also offer the tax advantages of an agriculturally based property and business.

American Aberdeen cross cattle are extremely well suited to grass-fed beef production as they are easy fleshing and will finish on a high roughage ration, producing high value carcasses with a minimum of input costs. The American Aberdeen Association®, headquartered in Big Horn, Wyoming requires that all Fullblood American Aberdeen cattle have DNA parentage verification to assure their genetic purity providing a breed integrity that is unmatched among other small breeds. The national registry has also established the tradition of an Annual National Show and Sale and Convention at the National Western Stock Show in Denver, providing a prestigious showplace for the top bloodlines in the breed as well as an ideal setting to share thoughts, ideas and mingle with other American Aberdeen breeders as well as the nation's top cattlemen of all breeds.

Here's what's happening at the ranch!

New Herdsire

TCS MJ 23J

MJ is a very well-muscled, moderate fullblood bull who is extremely attractive and correct. Every cow in his pedigree is exceptional, including his dam who was the 2020 National Supreme Champion. We expect his progeny, particularly out of our Bullseye and All Jacked Up daughters, to be classy, thick and muscular.

Old Favorite

EZ All Dolled Up 02C

EZ All Dolled Up 02C was the 2016 Reserve National Champion Female and National Sale high seller. She is one of the most-complete, full-bodied, well-balanced, mellow, easy-fleshing fullblood females we've ever raised. We are thrilled to have her back home and in our ET program.

Regular Online Sales

We hold online production sales two or three times each year on Smartauctions.co. Video and a link to online registration is available on every lot. We assist with trucking arrangements and always welcome you to the ranch to see the sale cattle. Upcoming sales are listed on our website or Facebook page.

Semen for Sale

With semen on over 50 Aberdeen bulls, fullbloods and Moderators, black and red, we are your "One Stop Semen Shop." Check out our line up on our website and call us if you need assistance in selecting semen. Credit cards accepted.

AMERICAN ABERDEEN ASSOCIATION

The American Aberdeen Association provides four different programs to help you achieve your cattle breeding goals.

Full Blood

100% Aberdeen cattle—these cattle trace back to the Trangie Research Center and the original Angus purchased from Canada.

Aberdeen Plus

Percentage cattle (25%-97.5%)—Percentage cattle with the non-Aberdeen portion coming from registered American Angus or American Red Angus. The member must supply the registered, genetic defect-free pedigree and appropriate fee to enter the foundation animal into the Aberdeen Plus registry. The submitting member must be the recorded owner of the female at the time the calf was born. A flush report is required for all embryo transplant calves. Multi-generational cattle are accepted as long as the breed and percentage criteria are met. Either the sire or dam (or both) of the first generation Aberdeen Plus must be registered with the American Aberdeen Association.

Moderator

Percentage cattle (50%-97.99%)—both sire and dam of a Moderator* must be registered with the American Aberdeen Association. Moderator shall be added to registration papers for these animals.

Moderator Plus

Percentage cattle (25% to 50%)—Aberdeen genetics on at least one side of the pedigree, and must be registered with the American Aberdeen Association. Either the sire or dam (or both) of a Moderator Plus* must be registered with the American Aberdeen Association. Moderator Plus shall be added to registration papers for these animals.
